Admission Policy

The Graduate School of Education, Tohoku University

The Tohoku University Graduate School of Education aims to nurture researchers and highly-skilled professionals who can acutely register social needs and address problems by themselves, through high-level, specialized knowledge and skills related to education, and possess the ethical and theoretical foundations that support them. With this in mind, selections will be made with an emphasis on whether or not applicants have the high-level abilities and qualities required for carrying out research in line with our educational principles and goals. Specifically, we seek those aspiring to become highly-skilled professionals who can contribute to society with specialized knowledge and skills supported by ethical and theoretical foundations, and researchers who will contribute to new discoveries in educational science.

The International Graduate Program in Global Education Studies (I-GES)

As part of the Future Global Leadership (FGL) Program at Tohoku University, the Graduate School of Education offers an international Doctoral program in Global Education Studies (I-GES), aiming to cultivate global researchers or highly skilled professionals with advanced specialized knowledge and skills in education and the ethical values and theoretical foundations that support them. Graduates will sensitively perceive societal needs, proactively identify problems, and actively promote concrete solutions to various issues in education. I-GES seeks students with the following aspirations of becoming researchers and highly skilled professionals to contribute to future education development:

- A strong desire to grasp the multilayered challenges of education in a globalizing society, conduct research at an international level, and contribute to policy-making and implementation by using the values and logic required by contemporary society, from interdisciplinary and international perspectives of school education, adult education, international educational development, and multicultural education.
- The will to contribute to analyzing and solving practical problems of education, by participating in a cross-disciplinary curriculum and courses that enable them to learn collaboratively through discussions and local fieldwork.
- The eagerness to cultivate international communication skills in a global environment, including mutual exchange of faculty and students based on agreements with partner universities and departments.

With this in mind, when accepting students, the priority of selection will be given on whether or not applicants have the high-level of abilities and qualities required for carrying out research in line with the educational principles and goals of I-GES.

The examination for enrollment in I-GES will include an interview examination. The applicants will be required to give a research presentation on the content of their previous research achievements (such as master's thesis and other reference theses) and future research plan. The selection will also focus on evaluating applicants' master's thesis, reference theses, and research plan.

Application Information

I. Program Overview

The International Graduate Program in Education Studies (I-GES), launched in 2023 and conducted exclusively in English, was developed as part of the Future Global Leaders Program at Tohoku University. The I-GES Doctoral Program offers professional development opportunities for students who aspire to take on global leadership roles in education. Those who wish to complete the I-GES Doctoral Program must be enrolled for at least 3 years and acquire a minimum of 9 credits of coursework. An international joint supervision system is applied in this program. This system involves internal academic supervisors and one external academic supervisor who jointly guide I-GES students in their doctoral research and career development. The internal academic supervisors are faculty members of the I-GES program. The external academic supervisor is based at a partner university with which Tohoku University has an interdepartmental agreement. The degree of Ph.D. in Education is conferred upon completion of the program.

II. Application Overview

1. Admission Screening Method

I-GES conducts an admission screening for evaluating whether applicants have sufficient research and English proficiency to receive supervision and take English-based courses in this program. The admissions committee accepts students based on submitted documents and through an interview examination.

Each applicant should obtain a professor's consent to be his/her prospective academic supervisor before starting the application process. Please refer to the list of faculty members (p.11). For inquiries about the e-mail addresses of potential supervisors, please contact sed-iges@grp.tohoku.ac.ip.

IV. Examination Overview

1. Screening schedule

Screening schedule	Period
Notice of interview examination sent to applicants	January 9, 2026
Interview dates	2:00 p.m., January 29, 2026
Announcement of successful applicants	6:00 p.m., February 18, 2026

2. Screening methods

Screening Methods	Notes
Interview	The interview will be conducted in English through an online video conference system on January 29, 2026.
	Applicants are required to make an oral presentation on their previous research achievements (such as master's thesis) and future research plan, and also may be asked basic questions regarding their research field in the interview.
	➤ The I-GES office will send a notification with the interview guidelines via email to applicants who successfully pass the document screening.

3. Notification of results

Notification of Selection Results: 6:00 p.m., February 18 (Wed.), 2026 (tentative)

Note: The results of the interview screening will be announced on the I-GES website according to the above schedule. All applicants will be notified of the selection results via the I-GES office email address (sed-iges@grp.tohoku.ac.jp).

V. Enrollment Procedures

"Enrollment Procedures" require successful applicants to complete two steps within the designated period below. First, payment of the "admission fee", and second, submission of documents required for enrollment.

Enrollment schedule	Period
Admission fee	By late May, 2026

Successful applicants are requested to pay the following fees at the time of registration:

(a)Admission Fee: ¥282,000

(b) Tuition Fee: \(\frac{1}{2}\) 267,900 (half of the annual tuition fee \(\frac{1}{2}\)535,800)

- Note 1: (a) and (b) are provisional. In case the tuition fee is revised during your period of study, you will be charged the revised tuition fee from the date of revision.
- Note 2: (a) Successful applicants are requested to pay the admission fee at the time of registration. Successful applicants who are currently enrolled in the Tohoku University Graduate School of Education are not required to pay the admission fee.
- Note 3: (b) Tuition should be paid within the designated period after the enrollment.
- Note 4: Information on the waiving of admission or tuition fees, or permission to defer payment to a later date, etc., will be provided in the enrollment procedure documents sent after the notification of results.
- Note 5: Detailed information related to the enrollment procedures will be provided in the enrollment documents after the announcement of successful applicants.
- Note 6: In case the applicants fail to complete the enrollment procedures within the designated period, the admission will be revoked regardless of any reason.

VI. Long-Term Course Program

We have adopted a Long-Term Course Program for students who have difficulty completing the course in the normal 3 years due to concurrent employment, housework, caregiving and so on. Though the Doctoral Program normally lasts 3 years, it can be extended to 6 years. Those who wish to extend their period of study from 3 years to 6 years may apply to enroll as Long-Term Course Students. Note that the maximum period of residency for the Doctoral Program is 6 years. Those who wish to enroll in the Long-Term Course Program must follow the instructions in the notification of acceptance, which will be delivered by mail after the announcement of acceptance, and submit the prescribed documents when conducting the other entrance procedures.

Coursework for students who are deemed eligible for the Long-Term Course Program is set in accordance with the curriculum and time schedule for regular students. The annual tuition fee for long-term course students is calculated as follows: the total amount of tuition fees for the standard term of study (3 years) is divided across the full length of the extended term of study (6 years). For details, please contact the I-GES office.

VII. Handling of Personal Information

- All personal information submitted by applicants for the admission procedures will be used solely for academic purposes, such as the selection of applicants, enrollment procedures, post-enrollment student support and academic advice.
- 2) Personal information used to screen applicants will be handled with care as per Tohoku University's regulations on personal information protection and will not be disclosed to any third party without the applicant's consent.
- 3) Please note that all applicants are assumed to agree to the terms above.

VIII. Educational Data Usage

Data, including personal information, that Tohoku University collects through its education/learning activities and stores on its information systems (hereafter, Educational Data) is analyzed with the latest analytical and A.I. technology and is considered vital to our implementation of evidence-based education.

Consequently, the university strives to use Educational Data effectively and appropriately in compliance with our "Statement on Educational Data Usage," "Policy on Educational Data Usage," and "Tohoku University's 8 Principles of Educational Data Acquisition."

After being admitted to the university, students' personal information, such as entrance exam scores etc., is merged with the university's Educational Data.
